

Important Announcement for Parents –
Unit Culmination Celebration of Learning This Week on _____ at _____

Dear Family,

This week our class is finishing a month-long social studies and literature unit focused on our world and others. We have explored the diversity of people who work, live, and serve in our community. We have also explored the similarities that exist in the cultures around our world. The theme of this unit is “Who’s My Neighbor?.” For this unit, we read the following books:

- Me on the Map
- Adele and Simon
- Be My Neighbor
- Career Day

Our final book, “Career Day”, will focus on the concept of appreciating diversity. Children will enjoy learning about the diversity of careers in our community and how we can appreciate their contributions.

On Friday students will participate in a Cultural and Career Celebration. This special event will allow students the opportunity to share food, art, and/or music from their native culture, or a culture that they find interesting. They will also share what they have learned about careers. Students are encouraged to wear native clothing from their chosen culture or chosen future career. They will demonstrate for you a summary of what they have learned. Families and friends are invited to attend this celebration. Please come and support your child’s learning. They are very excited to show you their best work! We will also need parent volunteers to bring food dishes for this event. Please email me and let me know if you can attend and/or bring a tasty dish from your culture.

Thank you for your continued support.
