Trees are important because they block the sun, give shade, give us wood for building materials and fuel, make clean air that we breathe, and in the Great Plains, they help break up wind. Trees are important to us and it's important to plant trees even now.

6